

SENATE FAVORS RECALL OF TROOPS

Demand Made for Return of U. S. Forces From Germany

Washington — The Senate has definitely gone on record as favoring immediate withdrawal of American troops from Germany.

A resolution expressed as the sense of the Senate that the more than 1000 United States soldiers at Coblenz bridgehead be summoned home at once by President Harding was adopted at a late meeting. The vote was 57 to 6. The resolution was rewritten so as merely to embody an expression that it was the sense of the Senate that the troops should be recalled.

Modification of the resolution was a signal victory for the administration forces and ended two hours' tempestuous debate, into which various aspects of the reparations crisis were dragged.

Speaking in behalf of his resolution, Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, said:

"We have no controversy with Germany; no property rights to protect on the Rhine, and, therefore, every consideration demands their return at once.

"There is only one reason why these troops are being held in Germany. They are not there for the benefit of the United States, but at the expressed wish and for the sole benefit of other nations.

"If trouble broke out in Europe, especially Germany, our small force would be wholly inadequate. If, for instance, an exasperated group in Germany arose against the threatened military gesture of France, our troops, regardless of all, would be subject to attack and if a drop of American blood is shed, the cry in this country immediately will arise for revenge."

The American forces on the Rhine comprise 41 officers and 850 men of the Eighth Infantry, in addition to quartermaster, signal, hospital corps and engineers and motor repair units. The force is to be further reduced in February by the return of a casual detachment of enlisted men whose time has expired. The American forces now have only 465 horses left for mounts and wagon trains.

Coblenz—French troops, under the command of Major-General Allen in the American area, have been ordered confined to quarters to prevent clashes between them and the Germans. The American forces here, numbering 107 officers and 1080 men, are carrying on all the duties of occupation.

There are 280 officers and 1423 men in the French forces at Coblenz under General Martin, who reports to Major-General Allen. The orders for the French troops to remain off the streets came from General Degoutte, the allied commander-in-chief, at Mayence.

JUTE BAG ORDER REVOKED

Reconsideration of Order Reduces Expense to Farmers

Washington—The Treasury Department has revoked an order previously made requiring importers of jute bags to stamp the name of the country of origin on each bag and announced that the stamping of the country on the bale wrapping will be sufficient. The West Coast has been particularly active in opposition to the order, as it means a higher price on jute grain bags of between 35 and 50 cents a hundred. The department was also advised that millions of bags are baled in India ready for shipment to the United States and that to stamp them all would require a considerable addition to the price of the bag to the American farmer.

RACE RIOTS IN FLORIDA

Whites Raze Negro Homes After Clash

Rosewood, Fla.—Twelve houses, all that remained of the negro section of Rosewood following a clash between whites and blacks several days ago in which seven were killed, were fired by a crowd of white men here and burned to the ground.

The houses were fired one at a time, while a crowd of between 100 and 150 men looked on without making any effort to extinguish the flames, according to Levy county authorities. All of the negroes were hiding in the woods, where they went late in the night after the clash.

TALE OF TORTURE AT MER ROUGE

Pathologists' Report Reveals Details of Mob's Cruelty

Courthouse, Eastrop, La.—A "torture rack" fashioned after the barbarous murder machines of medieval days was used by the "hooded mob" of Morehouse parish in slaying Watt Daniels and Thomas F. Richards, according to reports of State pathologists, submitted at the latest session of the open hearing.

The pathologists, Dr. Charles W. Duval and Dr. John Lanford, declared both men met their deaths after being subjected to some "specially constructed device, designed for inflicting punishment."

Broken and crushed human bones were introduced as evidence at the "open hearing."

The ghastly exhibits came from the mangled bodies of Watt Daniels and Thomas F. Richards, the victims, and were used to demonstrate the frightful effect of the inhuman torture to which they were submitted before death.

Dr. Charles W. Duval, State pathologist, showed the bones to a stunned courtroom while he was testifying to the frightful torture meted out to their victims by the "hooded mob."

"These are 24 long bones taken from the bodies of Richards and Daniels, each one of which was fractured by the torture they underwent," said Duval. The crushed bones and the smashed internal organs were described with careful attention to detail.

The "mob" amputated the hands and feet of their two victims, the report showed, and a frightful barbarous attack was made upon Daniels before he died, from which the young man presumably bled to death.

LEGISLATURE CONVENES

Reapportionment and Economy are Principal Problems

Sacramento—The exit of the Stephens' regime, the advent of the administration of Governor-elect Friend W. Richardson and the convening of the forty-fifth biennial session of the California State Legislature are the outstanding facts of the week.

With reapportionment and economy the cardinal problems facing the legislators, the forty-fifth session will undoubtedly prove one of the most interesting, if not one of the most important, in the history of the State.

Inauguration of Governor-elect Richardson is slightly delayed, in view of the difficulties attending organization of the two legislative houses.

Richardson's recent announcement that he would submit a $79,000,000 budget to the Legislature during the first fifteen days of the session indicated, in the opinion of State officials, the principal feature of the administration program. The Governor's budget will be $9,000,000 below the $88,000,000 contained in the final Stephens' budget approved at the 1921 session. A contest over the proposed budget and drastic slashes said to be contemplated by Richardson in various State departments have been predicted.

Discovery that the most valuable part of her stock had been stolen during the night was made recently by Mrs. L. J. Cross, conducting a women's furnishing store at Tracy. Her loss is more than $2,000 in silks and satins in bolts, other goods, and $50 in cash. At least two men operated and used an auto truck to carry away their plunder. There was no clue.

INTERESTING MEETING HELD BY GRANGE

About 125 of the members of Pomona Grange from Gilroy, Mountain View, Orchard City and San Jose Granges, met in joint session at Campbell, Saturday.

The lecturers hour was filled by a program prepared by Horace G. Keesling, of Pomona Grange. The musical numbers included a group of pleasing Indian selections for violin and piano, played by Miss Bernice Bogart and Miss Miriam Skiff, and duets, "Asleep in the Deep" and "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling," sung very effectively by D. H. Cramer and L. J. Carboni, with Mrs. D. H. Cramer at the piano. Prof. J. A. McPhee, who was to have talked upon the agricultural work in high schools, was prevented by sickness from attending.

Installation ceremonies were conducted by State Grange Master Geo. R. Harrison, Mrs. Harrison, Mrs. Grace Freeman and Miss Anna Scholz. Campbell names appearing on the list of Pomona officers are: Stanley R. Smith, Master; Mrs. Ida Clendenning, Secretary; Miss Myrtle Arnot, organist, and E. K. Clendenning, executive committeeman.

On the standing committees for the year are Robert Scholz and J. E. Weisendanger, Farm and Orchard; Mrs. Louis Shelley and Mrs. George Parso, Woman's Work; H. V. Archibald, Good of the Order; Mrs. Robt. Parkhill, Education; E. K. Clendenning, Highways. The officers for Orchard City Grange have been published.

Mrs. W. R. Coupland and committee who had charge of the banquet, and Mrs. Sutter and Mr. Lawrence, of the decorating, were given votes of thanks for their successful efforts. Halls and tables were beautiful with toyon and wild cherry and the fragrant narcissi.

ON THEIR WAY HOME

The Press is in receipt of a letter from Geo. E. Hyde, dated Boston, Jan. 4, the day of their arrival in that city. A part of the letter reads as follows:

"We arrived here today. Snow fell here all day yesterday and today to a depth on the level of about 12 inches. There is a large gang of men with horses and carts getting the snow off the streets tonight, so that by morning no doubt most of it will be removed. We are both well and have had no mishaps so far. It is five weeks since we left home and we have gone many hundreds of miles, have seen many people, and had a chance to see the marked difference between them. The Mexican people, together with a large majority of the Central American peoples, are certainly the most shiftless of all seen. They simply put off everything until tomorrow. The streets are full of beggars; little boys are learning the begging trade and many hard looking creatures are pleading piteously for pennies."

"Then we came to the good old U. S. A. at Florida. There the climate has given the people and the whole animal kingdom an anesthetic that makes them lazy and ambitious. Really, the most active people are raised in a colder climate."

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NOTES

The paper drive came to a close last week, it being a grand success. The girls won quite a bit over the boys and the drive totaled $61 altogether. E. C. Merrill kindly offered to take the paper into San Jose and gave the services of himself, man and truck for several hours.

Our boys' basketball team played the Mountain View boys Wednesday and were defeated by a few points.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Day are down from San Francisco for a visit at the W. H. Stray home.

LIBRARY CAMPAIGN IS NEARING CLOSE

The final intensive campaign to complete the Library Fund is being actively waged this week and will be continued a few days. A number of former residents of Campbell and several of the business houses of San Jose have already given subscriptions, but it seemed that others of the San Jose merchants and wholesale concerns who get so much business from Campbell might like to contribute to the fund if the matter was presented to them, so this week the committee have extended their field of solicitation and hope to put over the remaining hundreds with a flourish.

It is also planned to see those in our own community who have not made any pledge and others whose subscriptions might possibly be increased now, after further consideration.

The amount reported at Monday's meeting of the Country Woman's Club as having been actually pledged was $9,465. One of the notable additions to the fund was the $61 earned by the Campbell Grammar School in its recent paper drive. Later on the names of recent subscribers will be published to make the list complete.

The plans and specifications for the building are about complete and will soon be ready to be submitted for bids. They have been carefully revised to make the most of every available foot of space, and endeavors will be made to keep them so that the cost may come within the required limit.

CASH YOUR STAMPS

The director of the Twelfth Federal Reserve District is urging that all who are still holding the 1918 issue of Thrift or War Savings stamps should present them to the Banks, or Post Office if they are registered, at once, for redemption or conversion into Treasury Savings Certificates. As these and the Victory Notes of the Fifth Liberty Loan bearing letters A, B, C, D, E or F ceased to bear interest on January 1 and Dec. 15, respectively, they should be redeemed and the money put into some other form of profitable and safe investment.

Do not part with the Stamps for less than their face value as some unscrupulous promoters are trying to persuade people to do, or to exchange them for questionable stocks or bonds, or other speculative ventures.

MENDED THOROFARE

Campbell is again indebted to our Supervisor, John Roll, for work done on Campbell streets. Some others have been improved, but special mention should be made of Railroad Avenue, on which the street car station is located. This has been a mud hole for two seasons and patrons of the street car and autos going to and from the depot have had a nasty, bumpy road. As this street was never properly improved and accepted by the County, it was not their duty to repair it, but Mr. Roll has a feeling for people travelling thru mud and standing in pools to board a car, so he has had several loads of gravel hauled and the street put in useable condition.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks for the kind words of sympathy and the many beautiful flowers sent during our recent bereavement.

Mr. P. Arnot and family.

Raymond Hulsman has resumed his studies at the University of Santa Clara and is a dormitory student this year. Misses Josephine and Madeline Hulsman have also returned to their school at Menlo Park after the Christmas holidays.

OFFICERS CHOSEN AT ANNUAL MEETING

The stock holders of the Growers National Bank of Campbell held their annual meeting Tuesday afternoon at the bank.

Directors were elected as follows: Jas. Turner, E. K. Clendenning, Ralph Hyde, Frank Nelson, J. E. Wiesendanger, B. O. Curry and L. T. Lenox. At a later meeting the directors elected the following officers: B. O. Curry, president; E. K. Clendenning, vice-president; L. T. Lenox, vice-president and cashier, and Margaret Austin, assistant cashier. Miss Myrl Austin and David Strom were retained as bookkeepers.

The affairs of the bank were found in a satisfactory condition. Very substantial growth has been made during the past year, as evidenced by a comparison of the various items and totals of the bank reports published for the call of Dec. 31, 1921, and that of Dec. 29, 1922, which appear in this issue.

PROGRAM PRESENTED FOR WOMAN'S CLUB

Mrs. J. D. Blaine and Mrs. G. E. Stallman presented an interesting program before the Country Woman's Club Monday, on the subject of "Woman Educators."

Mrs. Stallman read brief accounts of the life and work of Emma Hart Willard, whose school at Troy, N. Y., is well-known, and Ella Flagg Young, the first woman to occupy the position of Superintendent of Schools in any large city. She was chosen for that position in Chicago in 1909 to bring about peaceful relations between the trustees and teachers. The part that Frances Willard played as an educator was also brought out.

Mrs. Blaine had chosen "The Life of Mary Lyon," by Mrs. Beth Gilchrist, from which she read interesting descriptions of the ambitions and accomplishments of that wonderful woman. Mrs. Gilchrist was one of the students at Mount Holyoke Seminary, which was established by Mary Lyon to give young women equal educational opportunities with men.

The influence of the founder of that school, who lived from 1797 to 1849, has been spreading in ever widening circles.

An interesting business session was held at which phases of administering the library fund were discussed and legal technicalities explained, as well as some of the expenses incident to maintenance of the new building outlined.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS GIVE DEMONSTRATION

The Cambrian Camp Fire Girls gave a demonstration of their meetings and explained some of their rites and symbols Tuesday afternoon at the High School P. T. A.

The group entered singing a Camp Fire song. They then gave the salute to the flag, and to their Camp Fire Flag and also the law of the organization.

Their leader, Mrs. Louis Shelley, presented the different members with the honor beads they had earned the past month; some of these were for a feat of camp craft.

The tapirs which symbolized love work and health, were lighted by different girls and explained. Other songs concluded the program.

For the next meeting, the Domestic Art classes, cooking and sewing, under the direction of their instructor, Miss Lois Gardner, will give a demonstration of their work.

MILD SMALLPOX (?)

On more than one occasion, recently, The Journal has drawn attention to the virulent trend of smallpox. The situation cannot be overemphasized, in view of the recent experience of Denver. That the remotest community is not immune, and that the cloak of mildness may hide for a time the real nature of the disease already present, is exemplified in the report of the county health officer of Biloxi, Miss., noted in Public Health Reports, Dec. 29, 1922.

"We have had nine cases of chickenpox reported. Chickenpox makes us think of smallpox, so I went to investigate and located a genuine case, confluent in type, resulting fatally. The victim, r. Fetters, a chiropractor, of Biloxi, recently from Denver, had never been vaccinated. Biloxi has had a number of mild cases of smallpox during the past few years, and some citizens are not being vaccinated as they should. A few cases like the one mentioned above would help to persuade them of the effectiveness and necessity of vaccination.—From The Journal of The American Medical Association, January 6, 1923.

18,755 people, using 5,747 automobiles, visited the Los Gatos Auto Camp from February 1 to December 31, 1922. This is the statement made by G. H. Johnson, owner of the camp, to the Mail-News, and shows the value of this institution to Los Gatos. A number of people have already become permanent residents of this city through the influence of the camp.

Mr. Johnson is planning to erect tent houses at the camp at once. The tents will be provided with electric lights and simple furniture. There are already nine cabins and a community house at the camp.

Mr. Corry, who arrived at the camp Sunday, states that he heard about Los Gatos in Mexico from a man who visited the camp last summer. Mr. Corry says the local auto camp is the finest he has ever visited. He is planning to make Los Gatos his home.

Home Town Helps

NOT A NATION OF RENTERS

People of Country Have by No Means
Lost Ambition to Own Their Own Homes.

Is home owning a lost ambition? Are we becoming a nation of cliff dwellers and renters? Not if we put faith in the figures compiled by the lately established bureau of housing of the Department of Commerce.

Of the 68 cities of more than 100,000 population but 20 show a loss in percentage of homes owned between 1910 and 1920 (the figures are from the census bureau) and the losses are more than offset by the gains of the other 48. Of the 20 where losses were recorded, four—Detroit, Cleveland, St. Louis and Los Angeles—are in the first ten cities of population.

Although in New York more homes are owned than in any other city the percentage is the lowest, but 12.7, yet even here the percentage has grown from 11.7 in 1910 and 12.1 in 1900. Manhattan presents the most striking situation. With more than a half a million homes, less than 11,000 were owned, little more than 2 per cent.

If home owning be a form of civic virtue, then Des Moines may gather her chaste skirts about her as painted Manhattan passes, for the Iowa paragon among cities shows a percentage of home ownership of 51.2, a growth from 45.6 per cent in 1910 and 28.5 in 1900. In only one other community of more than 100,000 inhabitants are half the homes owned, and that is Grand Rapids, Mich.—The Nation's Business.

LET GROUND HAVE PURPOSE

Plants and Foliage Should Be Designed to Emphasize Dominant Points of the House.

For a colonial house the good, old-fashioned plants should be used: box, lilacs, syringas and snowberries, as shrubs; grapes, wisteria and woodbine, as vines, or English ivy against brick. Use them not in the meaningless masses so popular in modern planting, but simply, with the severity and restraint that are characteristic of the colonial period. The planting should emphasize the dominant points of the house. Frame the entrance with clump of lilacs, or more formally with round bushes of box. Use vines, not to cover the whole house, unless the house is so ugly that it must be covered, but to soften a hard line, to accentuate the beauty of a chimney, to make a porch part of the house, to lend color and texture to a wall.

"Last fall I saw an old brick house at the edge of town, half covered with English ivy, and with a flame of woodbine running to the roof," says the writer of this article in House Beautiful. "Great leafless clumps of snowberry on either side of the door still held their plump berries, beautifully white against the red of the brick. That was all the planting, but it was a picture that has remained with me."

The City Beautiful.

We can't have too many pretty towns or too many pretty homes in town and country. Progress along this line is being made annually and with increasing interest among progressive town builders and home owners. There is no use for shabbiness. Shabbiness connotes indolence and indifference. A house or a town which indicates careless occupants, citizens concerned only for primitive necessities, is not one to attract the sort of people that energetic people want to know. Poverty is no excuse for shabbiness. The humblest dwelling does not need to be shabby. Shabbiness is carelessness, not filthiness. Many a flimsy little cottage or cabin exhibits a quality that is far superior to shabbiness. It is the careless, untended, dilapidated, apathetic look to a man's home, a man's town, or a man's clothing that gives it shabbiness. One needn't be shabby in overalls any more than in a tailor-made suit.—Dallas (Tex.) News.

Oaks Best for Street Planting.

Oaks are considered by the United States Department of Agriculture to be the best trees for street planting. It is probable that oaks have not been more widely planted because of the prevalent belief that they are slow growers, and because in the North they are rather difficult to transplant. A white oak, however, which is one of the slow-growing varieties, will reach the same height as a sugar maple in the same period of time, and maples have been used much more widely than oaks for street ornamentation, despite many unsatisfactory characteristics.

Plan for Growth of Town.

The crooked streets of Boston grew up along old-time cow paths. Cities, more recently founded, took note of the inconvenience and laid their streets out in a straight line, though that was about all they did by way of advancement.

Cities now discover that traffic congestion is due mainly to narrow streets. Yet they go ahead laying out more narrow streets. It is a foolish policy, especially foolish in small towns that may some day be giant cities.

There is one group of buildings in Washington where, within a few minutes' walk, you can find someone to give you intimate details as to any spot in the known world. It is the Department of Agriculture group.

Dr. E. W. Nelson, chief of biological survey, probed the secrets of ancient Guatemala and then, still a youngster, spent four years in Alaska—in the '70's, and has a big island named for him. Dr. Walker Swingle, citrus fruits, knows China inside out, and has a working knowledge of the language. Dr. H. L. Shantz, chief of plant physiology, recently spent 13 months in Interior Africa, while Prof. Silas Mason explored the desert of Sahara for cuttings for American date operations in the Imperial valley. Dr. B. T. Galloway, chief of the plant quarantine office, lingers lovingly over a steaming hotbed that reminds him of a year in Java. Dr. Wilson Poponoe has hunted rare plants throughout South America. Dr. David Fairchild, chief of plant introduction, has toured practically all of the known world. Dr. J. F. Rock now is probing the secrets of Hunan, China, where even the geography is not accurate.

Concerning Your Signature

Everybody likes to know "what's what." Good form in polite affairs, preserves one's social position, and good form in business practice insures good business standing. So we shall give a few sets of suggestions, call them lessons if you want to, on good form in banking. This time we'll talk on signatures.

How do you sign your name? Here is a man who uses several methods—sometimes he signs, J. N. Careless; or again, James N. Careless; or just for novelty, to see how it looks, J. Nathan Careless, or once in a while, when he's trying to catch a car, simply, J. Careless.

A man who had been doing business with one bank for ten years, began to have trouble the eleventh year. Several persons who received his checks in payment of bills couldn't cash them. The first time he had to make out a new check he was a little annoyed, the next time decidedly so, and finally, after a business firm had refused to bother with his checks at all, he flung himself into the bank "mad as a hornet." The bank officials dealt with him as tactfully as they could. They showed him that he had gradually formed the habit of signing in three or four different ways, and they asked him to leave samples of all the signatures he would be responsible for. He saw the point. Adopting one method, he had no further trouble.

Make your signature as easily recognizable as the features of your face. If you had, say, three different faces, it would be three times as hard for your friends to know whom they were shaking hands with. Sign one certain way. Use, as far as possible, one kind of ink. Write with the same general style of pen. These points will give your signature a definite personality, and help to make your business career smooth and safe.

In Winter EAT MORE CEREALS

THEY GIVE HEAT AND ENERGY

- Winter is the season of the savory, sizzling flapjack. Since the illustrated packages always have a man flipping the cakes, we figure it's put that way to even things up; Father does it in the picture, and Mother does it in the kitchen; so that's equal division of labor.
- OLYMPIC PANCAKE FLOUR—"Olympic" suggests athletic games, and hence worlds of energy. We can just see Charley Paddock, pride of America, eating such cakes for breakfast and then smashing a record in the "440." Olympic sells for 30c.
- CALIFORNIA FLAPJACK FLOUR—Here we have Father shown in the open disguised as a cowboy. His cakes thus look appealing made of paper; and Mother's will be even more appetizing made of batter. This brand, also, 30c.
- PEACOCK BUCKWHEAT FLOUR—The idea that buckwheat is too "heating" for summer will have no terrors on these chilly winter mornings. Costs 35c.
- AUNT JAMIMA—This time they have it right. The package introduces us to a real southern Mammy, said to be a famous cook. Here, from Aunt Jamima's own recipe, is a modest package of high quality at a low price: 15c.
- AND THE SYRUP, TOO—High Noon, a blend of cane and maple, 30c, 60c, $1.15. Log Cabin, 30c, 65c, $1.15. Red Karo, 18c, 30c, 45c, 85c. Blue Karo, 15c, 25c, 40c, 77c. Orange Marmalade, 20c, 40c.
- A man who had bought a chain of grocery stores and then got discouraged and sold out, told Storekeeper his troubles lately. Said he never got up and went to bed same day. Told wife never, never to complain about price or anything to a grocer again as long as she lived. Well, that man was only a manager; he didn't pass things over the counter. There's where he missed it. Grocers who stick begin with the delusion of making money, and keep on in the joy of meeting the public. That's how the public is served so cheaply.
- They try to josh us about Blaine's Steel-Cut Coffee, but we don't mind so long as we get the 38c.

The Josef Halamicek house on south Fourth street is progressing rapidly, Mr. O. Strom being the contractor.

H. A. Dutton, of Los Altos, was in Campbell part of the week on business. Mr. Dutton was former owner of the Groceria.

Peter Heinzen is carrying his arm in splints as the result of too close contact with an obstreperous Ford about two weeks ago.

Mr. Castro, who recently sold his blacksmith shop to T. W. Martin, with Mrs. Castro left Saturday for their new home at Eureka.

Frank C. Nelson was down from Berkeley, Tuesday, to attend the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Growers National Bank.

From the list of officers of Charity Lodge as published last week, the name of L. T. Lenox as Senior Deacon was inadvertently omitted.

Henrietta Toles and Emerson Harris have gone to San Francisco where Henrietta will make her home. Mrs. Toles will join her there after a trip to Chicago.

Earl Page, who has been teaching near Hanford, has resigned his position, and after spending a few days here with his parents left the last of the week for the northern part of the state.

Friday evening the Junior C. E.'s enjoyed a lively social at the home of Carlyn Lund. Fifteen of the younger generation were chaperoned and entertained by Mrs. Lund, assisted by several of the older officers and members.

The Eaton confectionery and pastry store changed hands last week. The purchasers are Van Dine and Stratton, who come here directly from San Jose, but were previously in Los Angeles. Mr. Eaton has built up a substantial business during the past year, so that the new purchasers enter an established field.

Mr. and Mrs. Alison are making plans and preparations for the erection of two more bungalows on their lots in East Campbell, facing Campbell Avenue. Later on they intend building on the block of lots they purchased of J. H. Campbell on South Second Street. Houses are going up rapidly in Campbell, but the supply never equals the demand.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Beebe, of San Francisco, spent New Year Week with Mrs. Beebe's sisters, Mrs. C. H. Whitney and Mrs. G. W. Baldwin, of Campbell. On New Year's Day there was a family reunion at the Whitney home, when eighteen guests sat down to dinner. The star attraction was two big turkeys sent by Mrs. W. H. Currell, another sister, from her ranch near King City.

The patrons and business associates of George Isbell were greatly surprised and incensed when they learned that one of his creditors had taken steps to have his groceria and ice cream parlor officially closed last week. Mr. and Mrs. Isbell were deservedly popular with their clientele, and the entire community is sincerely sympathetic in their trouble, and heartily wish for them a quick settlement and readjustment, and hope for their continuance in business.

The "January Birds", a group of ladies whose birthdays fall in January, were entertained Wednesday by Mrs. C. E. Hanger at her home on Los Gatos Road, it being her birthday. An interesting bird game was enjoyed, the prize for which, a celluloid parrot for a flower bowl, was won by Mrs. M. E. Purnmort. Mrs. Harry Watrous read an entertaining little skit and Mrs. Harry Williams also contributed to the program. There were twelve plates laid at the birthday table and a delicious chicken dinner was served by the hostess.

Keith Knopf, who underwent an operation for tonsils last week, had a rather unpleasant time of it and his recovery is not so rapid as customary.

Mrs. W. P. Pullan, formerly Mrs. B. Downing, is here this week from Oakland attending to business connected with her store and apartment property.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Tucker, of the Orchard City Meat Market, have the sincere sympathy of friends and patrons in the death of their two weeks old baby.

Russell Crawford was in Campbell Tuesday visiting his friends, and called at the rPress office to have the home paper sent to him at Eugene, Ore. He is attending the University of Oregon, taking a course preparatory to law. The Press extends the best of good wishes.

The date of the Improvement January 26th, as the later date will permit of the Congregational church parlors and kitchen being completed, and make the affair much pleasanter for guests as well as servers. The tickets will be a dollar per plate and anything over the cost of the supper will be used by the ladies to pay for changes in the church kitchen.

Mrs. E. R. Kennedy entertained the young ladies who assist her in the primary department of the Methodist Sunday School, Saturday evening at dinner. The young ladies were Miss Bernice Bogart, Irene Preston, Marie Purnmort and Miriam Skiff, the latter not an assistant. Viola Thompson was prevented from coming on account of the illness of her mother. Club Banquet has been set for

In the recent election held in the Cambrian School District for the purpose of bonding the district for $4500 to install a new heating plant and other school apparatus, and buy additional playground, the bonds carried more than 5 to 1, the vote being 37 to 7. This is the third election held within a few years by this district, and its taxpayers always rally to the support of their school, of which they are justly very proud.

We learned only this week of the very serious illness of J. C. Gordon, of San Jose, but a former resident of Campbell. Mr. Gordon has been very ill for several weeks with pneumonia, his life being despaired of for some time. He is able to be out in a wheel chair and hopes soon to resume his photography work, which Mr. H. W. Williams of Campbell, has been conducting for him. Mr. Gordon has the best wishes of Campbell friends for a speedy convalescence.

Montezuma Girls Things of Future

OLD INDIAN HIMSELF WILL SOON TURN OVER

(From Montezuma War Paint)

A school for girls along Montezuma lines! A school that would make girls more independent, and give them even more power than they now hold. How does it sound, fellows? Girls doing Prod for two hours every afternoon, and getting up at six in the morning. Can you imagine them hiking around the baseball field, walking off laps? "What I'd do if I had the time." "I would be to start a girls' school along Montezuma lines." He continued, "There is a great need for it today. There are a great many of our traditions and ideals that would make a greater appeal to the girls than they would to the boy. Since women have lately come into their own share of the world's work, they ought to have some actual experiences in self-government in school. In the modern girls' seminary, girls are not taught to think for themselves. They usually have good memories, and they are easily induced to follow the beaten trails of the orthodox method of education. I should like to see them freed from all this. I should like to give them an opportunity to develop their bodies, to expand their minds, and to take more active part in citizenship. Let them learn to think independently. I am sure, after she gets through the training that I give here to the boys, no girl could ever believe that woman's place is subservient to man's. Then each one would seek to make her home ideal."

More Than Two Billion Dollars Worth of Products Manufactured in California Annually

California has already become famous throughout the nation for her climate, her tourists, her scenery, her fruit and her gold.

Yet little has been known of California's industrial wealth, for which she is also destined to become famous.

The aggregate value of the products manufactured in California is more than two billion dollars per year.

And with her expanding harbor facilities, her ample power resources, her proximity to new sources of raw material, and her ideal climate for work and play, California's industrial growth has just begun.

78% of California Oil Refined Here

Petroleum from California wells last year represented a value of $182,400,000. More than 78% of this petroleum was refined in California, the finished products having a value of more than a quarter billion dollars.

Another great industry is the canning and preserving of fruits and vegetables. The aggregate value of the finished products runs over the two hundred million dollar mark. Steel shipbuilding almost equals the canning industry in total value of finished products. Meat packing is over the hundred million dollar mark. Flour milling reaches $75,000,000.

Wide Range of Industries

Lumber and timber products, printing and publishing, the production of beet sugar, tanning, currying and finishing of leather, production of tinware, manufacture of confections—all represent industries which return their millions of dollars to California every year.

Few people realize that in addition California manufactures iron and steel, food preparations of various kinds, women's clothing, men's clothing, bags and paper products, furniture, steam, gas and water engines, condensed milk, paints, electrical machinery, soap, cement, tobacco products, and chemicals. Each of these lines of industry represents a total output of more than ten million dollars per year.

And there are dozens of other lines which contribute their millions to the State's total production. A few of these are chocolate and cocoa, automobile bodies and parts, agricultural implements, photographic supplies, explosives, rubber tires, tubes and rubber products, roofing materials, fertilizers, shoes, jewelry, fur goods, etc.

California is a great industrial State as well as a leader in agricultural wealth and natural resources.

Help Us Tell the Nation These Amazing Facts About Our State

This advertisement is one of a series of three, the first devoted to telling of California's agricultural wealth, the second to California's natural resources, and the third to California's industries. These are facts of which you can well be proud.

Beautiful booklets and descriptive literature about California have been prepared by such organizations as Californians, Inc., San Francisco, by the All-Year Club of Southern California, Los Angeles, and by the San Diego-California Club, San Diego.

There are thousands of people in other States who have no conception of California's greatness. Some of them are your friends. Help us tell them.

If you will send to the Southern Pacific Company a list of the names and addresses of your friends, living elsewhere, whom you would like to have receive this series of advertisements as well as the California literature prepared by these organizations, which have for their sole purpose the advertising of California, we will see that your friends get this California literature.

Send Your List Today

Your friends will be glad to know these facts. The list of names you send us will be turned over to your own Chamber of Commerce or other civic organization, and literature will be sent telling them interesting facts about your own particular community.

Campbell Representative: Judge A. J. Farley, 125 No. First

WHEN the final call comes to a member of the family, it is natural to desire a memorial service in which fitting honor shall be paid and faith in the larger future shall be expressed.

At such a time, those who are suffering the strain of parting must be relieved of the details of arrangement. Furthermore, if the arrangements are to be perfect, they must be placed in highly trained and experienced hands.

There is a funeral director in your community who, possessing this skill, also understands that he is called upon for something more than professional service—that the essence of his responsibility is to carry out each detail in the spirit of a labor of love.
